UAC Privacy Policy

The Universities Admissions Centre (NSW & ACT) Pty Ltd (UAC) recognises the importance of protecting personal information and is bound by the NSW State Information Protection Principles¹, the National Privacy Principles² and the NSW Health Privacy Principles³.

Details of the UAC Privacy Policy are available at www.uac.edu.au/general/privacy.shtml.

UAC collects personal information and, in some circumstances, information regarding your health or a family member's health, for the purpose of processing your Educational Access Schemes (EAS) application. UAC will only collect information for lawful purposes related to its function. You may seek access to personal information about you collected by UAC.

The type of personal documentation UAC holds includes your contact details (name, address, telephone number, email address), date of birth, gender, citizenship and, where relevant to your application for EAS, information relating to your health or the health of a family member, Centrelink benefits, parenting status, carer responsibilities, financial disadvantage, English language difficulties and residential history.

If you're providing personal information about someone other than yourself, you should tell them about UAC's Privacy Policy, which can be found on UAC's website at www.uac.edu.au/general/privacy.shtml.

If you're a current NSW Higher School Certificate student, your Year 12 results will be held, along with Year 12 results from other states and territories in Australia, in an archive database at UAC. If you're eligible for an Australian Tertiary Admission Rank (ATAR) or a Limited ATAR, these will also be held in the database. Your results, including your ATAR if you're eligible, will also be held in similar archives at tertiary admissions centres in other states in Australia. Results held in these archives will only be accessed by the relevant tertiary admission centre if you initiate an application for tertiary study through that centre, or if you submit an application for tertiary study directly with an institution participating in that centre.

Any questions regarding privacy at UAC should be forwarded in writing to:

About EAS

Most institutions that participate through the Universities Admissions Centre (UAC) have an educational access scheme for applicants who've experienced long-term educational disadvantage due to circumstances beyond their control or choosing, which has seriously affected their educational performance. A long-term educational disadvantage should normally be experienced for a period of at least six months.

All applications are treated in strict confidence; only authorised personnel at UAC and/or the institutions will read any information provided in EAS applications.

Can I apply for EAS through UAC?

You can apply through UAC, using this booklet for reference, if you are:

- an Australian citizen or
- a New Zealand citizen or
- a permanent resident of Australia or
- a holder of an Australian permanent resident humanitarian visa.

and

You must be a UAC applicant for admission.

and

You must have experienced long-term educational disadvantage during Years 11 and/or Year 12 or equivalent.

See next item for information about applicants with tertiary studies.

Can I apply for EAS through UAC if I have a record of tertiary study?

Yes. For 2011 admissions, only six institutions will consider applications for EAS through UAC for UAC applicants for admission who are currently undertaking or who've previously undertaken tertiary study*. They are:

- Australian Catholic University
- Griffith University
- Southern Cross University
- University of Canberra
- University of Newcastle
- University of Technology, Sydney

All EAS applicants, including UAC applicants for admission who are currently undertaking or who've previously undertaken tertiary study, are subject to the same EAS application and assessment process and timelines.

The Australian National University, University of NSW, University of Sydney and University of Wollongong accept direct applications from people with tertiary study who've experienced long-term disadvantage. Refer to 'Tertiary studies' in Table 1: Policies and options for details.

*Tertiary study includes diploma, advanced diploma, associate diploma, degree or higher level studies undertaken either in Australia or overseas.

Who can't apply for EAS through UAC?

- ▶ International students

You're not eligible to apply if you're an international student.

- ▶ Elite athletes or performers

You're not eligible to apply on the basis of missing periods of schooling due to your sporting/performance commitments. However, some institutions give special consideration to elite athletes or performers. Refer to 'Options for elite athletes/performers' in Table 1: Policies and options for details.

Australian Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander applicants

If you're applying for consideration as an Australian Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander

Most institutions have specific schemes for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander applicants and take into account all types of educational disadvantage experienced by applicants when they assess applications for these schemes. Remember to check with institutions to make sure that they do take into account all types of disadvantage when they assess your application. If they do, you don't need to submit an EAS application. If they don't, then you must submit an EAS application so that the educational disadvantages you've experienced can be assessed. You must also submit an application for admission to tertiary study to UAC.

Read each institution's entry in Part 2 of the UAC 2011 Guide or visit UAC's website at www.uac.edu.au to find out whether you need to apply direct to the institution as well as apply for tertiary study through UAC.

If you're not applying for consideration as an Australian Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander

If you're an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander and don't wish to apply for consideration on this basis, but wish to apply for consideration on one or more of the types of educational disadvantage listed in Table 2 of this booklet, you must submit an EAS application. You must also apply for admission to tertiary study through UAC.

Application process

Your EAS application form is included in this booklet. You can download additional copies from UAC's website at www.uac.edu.au/undergraduate/eas/. Application material is also available from participating institutions or from UAC.

Applications open: early August 2010
On-time applications close: Thursday 30 September 2010
Final applications close: Thursday 6 January 2011

Read Your EAS eligibility letter section below for information about when you'll receive your eligibility letter.

We have to allow time to process your application after we receive it. To guarantee that your application will be considered in time for the Main Round of offers, submit it to UAC by Tuesday 30 November 2010.

- UAC doesn't accept emailed or faxed applications.
- You must provide all supporting documentation with your EAS application form. Information that can't be verified won't be assessed.
- Supporting documents must be correctly verified – read page 11.
- If you don't sign your application it won't be processed.

UAC doesn't make allowances or take responsibility for late courier or mail deliveries, or applications lost in the mail.

Remember:

- You can submit only one EAS application.
- You can't change your ED code/s after you've submitted your EAS application.
- Keep a copy of your EAS application form and supporting documents.

Your UAC application for admission

Remember, your EAS application isn't an application for admission. If you've not already done so you must also apply for admission through UAC at www.uac.edu.au.

Your acknowledgement letter

UAC will send you an email message to let you know that you can view and/or download your EAS acknowledgement letter. When you receive an alert email from UAC, go to Check & Change at www.uac.edu.au to view and/or download your letter.

Some email accounts (eg hotmail) could send emails from UAC to your junk folder. Most email accounts allow users to add names or domains to a safe list. Add the domain uac.edu.au to your list of safe email contacts to stop this from happening. It's your responsibility to check your emails regularly (including your junk emails) for any messages from UAC.

If you've submitted your EAS application by Tuesday 30 November 2010 and haven't received your acknowledgement letter by mid-December, call UAC on (02) 9752 0200.

Your EAS eligibility letter

UAC will let you know each institution's decision about your EAS application. We'll tell you whether you're eligible or not for consideration under each institution's educational access scheme; your eligibility status for each institution will be yes or no.

Your EAS eligibility letter will tell you your eligibility status for each institution, whether or not you have one or more of the institutions included in your course preferences.

If you apply for EAS by Tuesday 30 November 2010, you'll receive your EAS eligibility letter around the same time as the release of ATARs. This means that if you want to change your preferences, you already know your eligibility status for every institution.

If you apply for EAS after Tuesday 30 November 2010, you'll receive your EAS eligibility letter after Thursday 6 January 2011, which is the closing date for change of preferences for Main Round offers.

How institution policies impact on EAS eligibility

UAC assesses all EAS applications centrally on behalf of institutions but individual institutions have their own policies on how EAS assessments are used in the allocation of offers. This means that you may be eligible for EAS consideration at some institutions but not at others. It also means that, with institutions that allocate bonus points, you may be allocated a different number of bonus points by different institutions.

Policies that may override your eligibility status

Institutions have different policies that may override your eligibility status. For example, an institution may consider that you're eligible for EAS because of your long-term educational disadvantage/s, but may have an overriding policy that EAS applicants must achieve a minimum ATAR. So if your ATAR is lower than the minimum you won't be considered for EAS even though your eligibility status for the institution is yes.

Similarly, some institutions don't include certain courses in their educational access schemes, so if you've applied for admission to an 'excluded' course, you won't be considered for EAS for that course even though your eligibility status for the institution is yes. Refer to Table 1: Policies and options for details about these policies.

Policies about schools included in government programs

Institutions have different policies about how they consider students who attend a school included in the NSW Priority Schools Funding Program, the NSW Country Areas Program, the Australian Government National Partnership for Low Socio-economic Status School Communities Program, or a similar program. Attendance at these schools is a recognised form of disadvantage.

If you attend one of these schools and haven't submitted an EAS application form, UAC undertakes an automatic assessment and writes to let you know that you've been automatically assessed as being eligible for this type of educational disadvantage (read page 22). However, because of the different policies, you may not be eligible for EAS consideration at some institutions if attendance at one of these schools is your only type of educational disadvantage.

Policies about applicants with a record of tertiary study

For 2011 admissions, only six institutions will consider applications for EAS through UAC for UAC applicants for admission with a record of tertiary study. So if you have a record of tertiary study, your eligibility status for institutions that don't consider EAS applications from this group of applicants will always say no. Refer to Tertiary studies in Table 1: Policies and options for details.

Preferences

To be eligible for consideration under an institution's scheme, you must have at least one preference to that institution in your list of preferences at midnight on Thursday 6 January 2011, which is the closing date for changes of preference for Main Round offers.

Offers

You may be eligible for consideration under an institution's educational access scheme and not be offered a place. This is because you have to compete for an offer to your preferred course/s with other applicants. If you do receive an offer you'll be notified by UAC in the Main Round of offers on Wednesday 19 January 2011.

Ongoing help

Institutions provide comprehensive ongoing support programs. Read each institution's entry in Part 2 of the UAC 2011 Guide or on UAC's website at www.uac.edu.au for more information.

Notes

- Six institutions will consider applications for EAS through UAC for UAC applicants for admission who are currently undertaking or who've previously undertaken tertiary study and who've experienced long-term disadvantage as a result of circumstances beyond their control or choosing.
- The page numbers given in this column refer to the UAC 2011 Guide where you can find information about options for elite athletes/performers.
- UNSW also considers applications from students who've been excluded – visit www.unsw.edu.au/scats.
- University of Sydney also considers applications from students who've been excluded or who've a record of failure – visit http://sydney.edu.au/future_students/domestic_undergraduate/admissions/special_entry_schemes/special_consideration.shtml.
- UTS also considers applications from people who have been granted refugee status – visit www.equity.uts.edu.au/admission/refugee/index.html.

BEFORE YOU START:

- Apply for admission through UAC before you submit your EAS application.
- Have these instructions and the EAS form open alongside each other.
- When you fill in the form print clearly in BLOCK LETTERS and use a black/dark blue pen.
- Attach all supporting documents to your EAS application form.

Instructions for filling in your 2011 Educational Access Schemes application form

How to fill in your application

1 UAC application number

Write your UAC application number in the box in the top right-hand corner of the form.

2 Personal details

Complete all parts – Name, Address, Australian daytime telephone number, Date of birth, Name of school (2010 Year 12 applicants only).

Changing your contact details

UAC needs your correct contact details so that you can receive important information from us or the institutions.

Change your contact details using Check & Change on UAC's website at www.uac.edu.au/undergraduate/check-change/ or write to UAC quoting your application number.

Notes:

- You can't change your contact details by telephone, fax or email.
- Don't include changes to your contact details with other correspondence.
- If you're a 2010 NSW HSC student, you must change your address with both UAC and the NSW Board of Studies.

3 Educational disadvantage (ED)

Write the ED code/s from Table 2 (which starts on page 14 of this booklet) that best describe/s the reasons for your educational disadvantage. You must include at least one code.

Financial hardship – F01A or F01B

If you're claiming financial hardship under F01A or F01B you must enter your Centrelink Customer Reference Number (CRN) in this section. Your CRN isn't the same as your Centrelink Customer Access Number (CAN). Refer to F01A and F01B on page 15 for more information.

Not sure about types of disadvantage?

Call UAC to check types of disadvantage, for example:

- if you've experienced a disadvantage and you're unsure which category it fits into
- if you've experienced a disadvantage that doesn't clearly fit into one of the categories listed on pages 14–23 of this booklet and you're unsure how to proceed with your application.

4 Declaration

Sign and date your EAS application form. If you don't sign the form your application won't be processed.

Note: You must read and accept all conditions in the UAC application declaration and authority on page 10 of this booklet before signing your EAS application.

5 Applicant's statement and Educational impact statement

Applicant's statement

You need to provide a separate Applicant's statement and Educational impact statement for each ED code you've claimed in section 3 of this application. If you've claimed more than three ED codes you'll need to make copies of page 2 of the form or download additional copies from www.uac.edu.au/undergraduate/eas/ to complete and attach to your application.

You must complete the Applicant's statement yourself in your own words. If it isn't completed and signed by you, your application won't be assessed.

If exceptional circumstances exist which make it impossible for you to complete and sign your own Applicant's statement, a statement (written on your behalf by the person who signs the application form) must be included with your application to explain those circumstances.

- Refer to Table 2: Types of disadvantage, which gives guidelines about the essential information you need to include in your Applicant's statement for each ED code.
- Include the period of disadvantage.
- Be precise and print clearly using a black/dark blue pen.
- Provide all necessary and correctly verified documents required for each specific type of disadvantage as described in Table 2, which begins on page 14 of this booklet.
- sign and date the statement.

Educational impact statement

You must arrange for an Educational impact statement to be completed for each ED code you've claimed in section 3 of this application.

Your application won't be assessed if you don't provide an Educational impact statement for each ED code you've claimed. The Educational impact statement must be completed by a responsible person who can comment on your case. All parts must be completed.

- If you're a 2010 Year 12 student this statement must be completed by your school/college principal, counsellor, year adviser or careers adviser.
- If you're a 2010 Year 12 student and you're unable to have your school complete the Educational impact statement, attach an explanation as to why this is the case. In addition, you must include a statement explaining the relationship of the signatory of the statement to yourself, and have that person confirm the relationship in their Educational impact statement.
- Examples of a responsible person are a doctor, lawyer, accountant, social worker, counsellor, religious or community leader. The person must not be related to you.
- If you're a non-Year 12 student the statement may be completed and signed by a responsible person who can verify what you've written.
- The school representative or responsible person must explain how the educational disadvantage you've experienced has affected your educational performance.

- The person who completes the Educational impact statement must provide information for both parts – A) Educational disadvantage/s (including impact section) and B) Details of responsible person – and where appropriate should include information about your level of educational performance prior to the disadvantage.
- The Educational impact statement and the Medical impact statement must not be completed by the same person.
- Your EAS application won't be assessed if a separate Educational impact statement isn't completed for each ED code you've claimed.

You must not alter, or add to, the Educational or Medical impact statements in any way.

Make sure that the responsible person who completes the Educational impact statement has read the relevant parts in this booklet, especially Table 2: Types of disadvantage.

6 Medical impact statement

You must arrange for the Medical impact statement to be completed if you've entered the ED code P01A in your EAS application.

The Medical impact statement must be completed by a registered health professional who's familiar with your medical condition/disability. All parts must be completed.

- Examples of a registered health professional are a medical practitioner, psychologist or specialist who's familiar with your circumstances and who can provide information on the medical condition/disability and its effect on your ability to study. The person must not be related to you.
- The person who completes the Medical impact statement must provide information for all three parts – A) Medical condition/disability B) Effect on ability to study (including Impact section) and C) Details of registered health professional.
- The Medical impact statement and the Educational impact statement must not be completed by the same person.
- Your EAS application may not be assessed if you've entered code P01A and the Medical impact statement isn't completed.

You must not alter, or add to, the Educational or Medical impact statements in any way.

Make sure that the registered health professional who completes the Medical impact statement has read the relevant parts in this booklet, especially Table 2: Types of disadvantage.

7 Declaration of third party health information

You must complete the Declaration in section 7 if you're providing health information about someone other than yourself.

Supporting documents

You must provide all supporting documents with your original EAS application. If you submit documents after you've submitted your EAS application, they won't be assessed.

Checklist

Before you submit your EAS application check that you've:

- submitted your application for admission through UAC
- read all the relevant sections of your EAS booklet
- clearly printed your ED codes in section 3 using only the codes listed in Table 2
- completed an Applicant's statement for each ED code you've claimed
- arranged for an Educational impact statement to be completed for each ED code you've claimed
- arranged for the Medical impact statement to be completed if you've included ED code P01A
- attached all necessary documents; and checked that they are verified correctly. (Refer page 11 of this booklet)
- read the Declaration and authority on page 10 of this booklet and signed and dated page 1 of your application
- kept a copy of your ED codes on page 10 of this booklet
- kept a copy of your application form
- kept a copy of all documentation.

Declaration and authority

You must read and accept all conditions in the following Declaration and authority before submitting your 2011 Educational Access Schemes (EAS) application.

Your application can't be considered unless you or your authorised agent accept all conditions set out below by signing and dating section 4 of your EAS application.

- 1 I declare that all the information submitted is true and complete.
- 2 I declare that I have read and understand the UAC Privacy Policy on the inside front cover of this booklet.
- 3 I authorise UAC to verify any information provided by me.
- 4 I authorise Centrelink to electronically provide a statement of information to UAC to assist in the assessment of my 2011 EAS application. I understand that the information provided by Centrelink may include, where relevant, current or historical details of payments received, dependants, Centrelink deductions, income, assets and confirmation of my current address.
I understand that this authority can be revoked at any time by giving notice to UAC or the participating institution.
I understand that I will be able to obtain a written copy of the statement at any time from either UAC or Centrelink.
I understand that a brochure is available from Centrelink that provides more details about the Centrelink Confirmation eServices; the brochure is also on Centrelink's website at www.centrelink.gov.au.
- 5 I authorise UAC to provide all information and documents provided with and/or obtained in connection with this application to any institution to which I have made an application for an EAS.
- 6 I authorise UAC to collect, receive, store, transfer and use any information provided by me, or any information obtained in connection with this application, and to disclose such information to all participating institutions, Universities Australia (UA)¹, UA member institutions, the members of the Australasian Conference of Tertiary Admissions Centres (ACTAC), and any other authority or tertiary educational institution either in Australia or overseas, where UAC reasonably considers it is necessary to make such disclosure.
- 7 I understand that UAC and the participating institutions have the right to vary or cancel an EAS application and/or application for admission or an enrolment made on the basis of what UAC or a participating institution determines to be untrue or incomplete information from any source.
- 8 I understand that institutions make offers of admission based on the consideration of EAS applications, which includes information provided by me and on advice received from UAC. If a participating institution subsequently finds that the information or advice was incorrect, it may withdraw the offer of admission.

Keep a record

There are a number of types of disadvantage that institutions consider; each has a code (an Educational Disadvantage (ED) code). These codes are listed in Table 2 on pages 14–23.

Keep a record here of the types of disadvantage that you've included in your EAS application.

ED code(s)

Keep a copy

Keep a copy of your EAS application form and all supporting documents.

Why?

You may have to provide a copy of your EAS application form and all supporting documents to your institution if you require ongoing support during your studies.

Do I need to provide any documents with my application?

- You must supply documentary evidence where requested in Table 2: Types of disadvantage to support disadvantage/s claimed.
- If you don't supply complete and correctly verified documentation your EAS application won't be assessed.

Photocopies

So that your EAS application can be assessed correctly, ensure that all photocopied documents that you submit are:

- legible
- easy to read, especially visas and stamps with dates
- correctly verified.

I have documents from overseas. What do I need to provide?

If your official documents aren't in English, you must supply verified copies of the following documents:

- the document in the original language
- an English translation of these documents (see below for organisations who can translate your documents).

Your documents must be translated by one of the following::

- Community Relations Commission for Multicultural New South Wales
Level 8, Stockland House, 175 Castlereagh Street Sydney 2000
tel: 1300 651 500 (Tollfree)
www.crc.nsw.gov.au
- a translator accredited by the National Accreditation Authority for Translators & Interpreters (NAATI).

The translator must be accredited as at least a 'professional translator' (previously known as Level 3). Translated documents must display the official NAATI stamp provided to qualified translators; the stamp shows the level of accreditation and the direction in which they're accredited to translate.

A list of NAATI-accredited translators in Australia and some overseas locations is available at www.naati.com.au.

- interstate office of either the Ethnic Affairs Commission or the Department of Immigration and Citizenship (DIAC)
- Australian diplomatic missions or Australian Educational Centres
- some major banks; you'll need to check with specific banks.

Copies translated by any other sources, including overseas notaries, will not be accepted.

What does correctly verified mean?

Correctly verified means that your original document has been sighted and the copy has been sworn to be a true copy of the original by one of the authorised people mentioned below.

Documents not verified or not verified correctly

UAC isn't permitted to process:

- documents verified by a Justice of the Peace without a registration number
- documents verified by an International Justice of the Peace
- documents that are just photocopies, that is, not verified
- documents that haven't been correctly verified.

Who can verify copies of my documents?

You can take your original documents in person to UAC or the admissions office of an institution. Your original documents will be copied and handed back to you. UAC will keep the copies with your application. The admissions office will give the copies to you to submit with your application to UAC. There may be a charge for copies made at some participating institutions.

You can also have your documents verified by someone from one of the categories listed below. The categories are for verification in Australia, New Zealand or overseas – check carefully which categories apply to you. The person who verifies your document/s must be contactable by telephone during normal working hours. You can't verify your own documents, even if you belong to one of the categories listed below.

a) Documents verified in AUSTRALIA

Anyone who is currently employed as:

- an accountant – member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants in Australia, or CPA Australia, or the National Institute of Accountants, or the Association of Taxation and Management Accountants or Registered Tax Agents
- a bank manager, but not a manager of a bank travel centre
- a credit union branch manager
- a commissioner for declarations
- a barrister, solicitor or patent attorney
- a police officer in charge of a police station, or of the rank of sergeant and above
- a postal manager
- a principal of an Australian secondary college, high school or primary school.

An authorised officer at:

- Universities Admissions Centre (UAC)
- the Admissions Office or Student Services Office at any participating institution
- the Administration Office at any TAFE college
- Queensland Tertiary Admissions Centre (QTAC), Victorian Tertiary Admissions Centre (VTAC), South Australian Tertiary Admissions Centre (SATAC), Tertiary Institution Services Centre (TISC-WA)
- the official records department of the institution that originally issued the document/s.

A Justice of the Peace with a registration number.

Copies verified by a Justice of the Peace without a registration number won't be accepted.

To find a Justice of the Peace in your area, check the public register of JPs available online from the NSW Attorney-General's Department at www.lawlink.nsw.gov.au.

b) Documents verified in NEW ZEALAND

Anyone who is currently employed as:

- an accountant – member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants in New Zealand
- a bank manager, but not the manager of a bank travel centre
- a credit union branch manager
- a barrister, solicitor or patent attorney
- a police officer in charge of a police station, or of the rank of sergeant and above
- a postal manager
- a principal of a New Zealand secondary college, high school or primary school.

An authorised officer at:

- the Admissions Office or Student Service Office at any New Zealand university or institute of technology
- the official records department of the institution that originally issued the document/s
- an Australian overseas diplomatic mission or Australian Educational Centre.

c) Documents verified OVERSEAS (except New Zealand)

An authorised officer at:

- the official records department of the institution that originally issued the document/s
- an Australian overseas diplomatic mission or Australian Educational Centres.

How should the authorised officer verify each document?

The authorised officer must:

- write 'I certify this to be a true copy of the document shown and reported to me as the original'
- sign
- print their name, address, contact number, profession or occupation or organisation and date verified
- include the official stamp or seal of the verifier's organisation on the copy, if the organisation has such a stamp.

In addition, a Justice of the Peace must also print:

- their registration number
- the state in which they're registered as a Justice of the Peace.

Can I send original documents to UAC?

We recommend that you don't send original documents to UAC.

If you send original documents and want them returned to you, write to UAC enclosing a cheque or money order for the relevant fee. If the documents relate to the current admissions period, the fee is $36. If the documents relate to a previous admissions period (up to two years), the fee is $52.

I have documents under another name. Do I need to provide any documents as evidence of my previous name?

If you have documents under a previous name, you must supply documentary evidence to prove your change of name, such as a marriage certificate, deed poll registration or other registration with the Registry of Births, Deaths and Marriages.

The documentation must show your previous name/s and your current name/s. Without this documentation, your application may be delayed.

Supporting documents

You must provide all supporting documents with your original EAS application. If you submit documents after you've submitted your EAS application, they won't be assessed.

How institution schemes work

EAS applications are assessed centrally at UAC but individual institutions have their own policies on how EAS assessments are used in the allocation of offers. Institutions use EAS assessments to allocate offers of admission in one of two ways:

- they set aside a certain number of places
- they allocate bonus points.

Here's a brief description of these two ways, together with the institutions that use them.

Some institutions set aside a certain number of places for eligible EAS applicants

Institutions don't allocate bonus points but instead set aside a number (or percentage) of places in each of their courses for EAS applicants. These places are limited.

- The institution policy specifies that EAS applicants may be made an offer to a course with a selection rank up to a certain number of points below the published cut-off.
- EAS applicants are assessed by the institution as 'eligible' or 'not eligible' for consideration under their scheme.
- If eligible, applicants compete for the specified EAS places against each other on the basis of academic merit.
- Being eligible for consideration under EAS doesn't guarantee an offer of a place because a large number of EAS applicants with a higher selection rank may apply to the same course and there are a limited number of EAS places.

Example

Peter has an ATAR of 80.00. The published cut-off for the course Peter is seeking entry to is 83.00 at Institution A. There are five EAS places available in this course and EAS applicants can be made an offer with a selection rank up to 10 points below the cut-off.

Twenty EAS-eligible applicants have applied to the same course as Peter. These applicants are ranked on the basis of academic merit and the EAS places in the course are allocated to the five applicants with the highest selection ranks.

The fifth applicant has an ATAR of 81.50. Even though Peter was eligible for consideration under EAS he doesn't receive an offer to the course because other EAS applicants applying to that course had higher selection ranks.

Which institutions set aside places?

- University of Sydney – eligible EAS applicants may receive an offer if their ATAR is within 5 points of the published Main Round cut-off for 2011.
- University of Technology, Sydney – eligible EAS applicants may receive an offer if their ATAR is within 10 points of the published Main Round cut-off for 2011.

Some institutions allocate bonus points to eligible EAS applicants

Institutions don't set aside EAS places but instead use EAS assessments to allocate bonus points to an applicant's selection rank.

- Bonus points increase an applicant's selection rank and applicants compete with all other applicants for a place in the course on the basis of academic merit.
- The allocation of bonus points doesn't guarantee entry to the institution or to the applicant's preferred course; applicants still need to meet the published cut-off for the course.

Example

Sally has an ATAR of 70.00. The published cut-off for her preferred course is 71.55. On the basis of Sally's EAS assessment, Institution B awards Sally a bonus of 2. Sally's adjusted selection rank for that course is 72.00 so she receives an offer to the course.

Which institutions allocate bonus points?

- Australian Catholic University
- Australian Maritime College
- Australian National University
- Charles Sturt University
- Griffith University
- La Trobe University
- Macquarie University
- Southern Cross University
- University of Canberra
- University of New England
- University of New South Wales
- University of Newcastle
- University of Western Sydney
- University of Wollongong

Bonus points don't change your ATAR

When institutions allocate bonus points they're added to your selection rank not your ATAR. In the example above, Sally's ATAR is still 70.00; it's the selection rank for her preferred course that's changed to 72.00.

FAQs about ATARs and bonus points

If I'm eligible to get bonus points, does my ATAR change?

No. If institutions allocate bonus points they're not added to your ATAR. Bonus points change your selection rank for a particular preference or course.

There are some instances where your ATAR might be recalculated:

- 1 if the Board of Studies provides amended HSC results to UAC
- 2 if you complete additional courses
- 3 if you repeat courses you've already completed.

If your ATAR is recalculated, you'll receive a new ATAR Advice Notice.

If bonus points don't increase my ATAR, then how do they work?

Institutions allocate bonus points for different circumstances. Examples include performance in specified HSC subjects, living or attending school in an area defined by the university, and through Educational Access Schemes.

For most Year 12 applicants, their selection rank for entrance to higher education is their ATAR. However, if institutions allocate bonus points to you, then your selection rank for a particular preference or course = ATAR+bonus points. As the bonus points schemes for each institution, and often for each course at the same institution, are different then your selection rank can be different for each course you list in your course preferences.

Disrupted schooling

IMPORTANT: You can list only one ED code from the Disrupted schooling category

ED code 1 Eligibility

You may be eligible if, during Year 11 and/ or Year 12 or equivalent*, your schooling has been disrupted for reasons beyond your control or choosing. This may be due to one of the following reasons:

D01A You attended three or more different secondary schools in Australia during years 10, 11 and 12 or equivalent.* This doesn't include moving from junior school to senior school.

D01B You have English as your first language and you started school in Australia during Year 11 and/ or Year 12 or equivalent.*

D01C You moved interstate during Year 11 and/ or Year 12 or equivalent.*

D01D You have missed long periods of schooling in Year 11 and/ or Year 12 or equivalent* for other than medical reasons, as a result of circumstances beyond your control or choosing. This doesn't include student exchange programs.

Note: ED code P01A covers personal illness/ disability educational disadvantage.

ED code 2 Applicant's statement

You must include the following in your Applicant's statement:

■ details of the schools you attended during years 10, 11 and 12 or equivalent* and the period you attended each school
and
■ reason/s why you changed schools.

■ details of the date you arrived in Australia, the school/s you attended and the period/s attended
and
■ the country in which you undertook your secondary education before coming to Australia.

■ details of secondary schools you have attended since the beginning of Year 10 (school, state/territory and period attended)
and
■ reason/s why you moved interstate.

■ details of why you missed long periods of school
and
■ the periods you missed school, including the school year.

ED code 3 Documentation — in addition to the Educational impact statement

You must attach the following documents to support your application:

■ a statement from each school you have attended confirming the period you attended the school.

School statements must be on school letterhead and must be signed by the principal or another senior person at the school.

■ a verified copy of your passport indicating date of entry to Australia
and

■ a statement from your school/s confirming the period/s you attended.

School statements must be on school letterhead and must be signed by the principal or another senior person at the school.

■ a statement from each school you have attended confirming the period you attended the school.

School statements must be on school letterhead and must be signed by the principal or another senior person at the school.

■ a statement from your school confirming the periods you have missed school.

School statements must be on school letterhead and must be signed by the principal or another senior person at the school.

Elite athletes or performers You're not eligible to apply for EAS through UAC on the basis of missing periods of schooling due to your sporting/performance commitments. However, some institutions give special consideration to elite athletes/performers. Refer to Table 1: Policies and options for details.

* Six institutions will consider applications for EAS through UAC for UAC applicants for admission who are currently undertaking or who've previously undertaken tertiary study and who've experienced long-term disadvantage as a result of circumstances beyond their control or choosing.

Table 2: Types of disadvantage

Financial hardship

IMPORTANT: You can list only one ED code from the Financial hardship category

ED code 1 Eligibility

You may be eligible if during Year 11 and/or Year 12 or equivalent* you received a Centrelink (or other Commonwealth) means-tested income support payment.

F01A Youth Allowance/Austudy/ABSTUDY

or

F01B

Other Centrelink income and asset-tested entitlements: this doesn't include Family Tax Benefit payments. All Centrelink documentation must be in your name.

Note: if you stop receiving Youth Allowance/ other Centrelink benefits you must notify UAC in writing immediately with your updated information. Don't forget to include your full name and UAC application number.

2 Applicant's statement

For F01A and F01B, you must include the following in your Applicant's statement:

- the type of entitlement you're receiving, eg – Youth Allowance/Austudy/Abstudy – Disability Support Pension and
- the period for which you've received the entitlement.

3 Documentation – in addition to the Educational impact statement

For F01A and F01B, you must provide your Centrelink Customer Reference Number (CRN).

If you're currently receiving a means-tested Centrelink income support payment, UAC will request Centrelink to electronically provide a statement of information to enable us to assess your claim against F01A or F01B.

We'll use your Centrelink Customer Reference Number (CRN) to request this information. Write your CRN in section 3, page 1 of your application.

If you're not currently receiving a means-tested Centrelink income support payment, but did so during years 11 and/or 12 or equivalent*, attach a verified copy of your most recent Centrelink income statement.

We can't consider your claim for financial hardship if you don't provide your CRN. Your CRN is on all Centrelink Income Statements and Health Care Cards. Your CRN isn't the same as your Centrelink Customer Access Number (CAN). Contact Centrelink to obtain your CRN if you're unsure.

ED code 1 Eligibility

You may be eligible if you've experienced:

F01C exceptional financial hardship during Year 11 and/or Year 12 or equivalent.*

STOP You can't list F01C if you've listed F01A or F01B.

F01C is for a very small number of applicants who experience exceptional financial hardship, but who aren't in receipt of Centrelink benefits. This generally doesn't include applicants whose family income is above the threshold for eligibility for a Centrelink (or other Commonwealth means-tested) income support payment.

2 Applicant's statement

For F01C, you must include the following in your Applicant's statement:

- why you're not currently eligible for a Centrelink means-tested (or other Commonwealth means-tested) income support payment and
- a description of the exceptional financial hardship you've experienced and
- the period of the exceptional financial hardship.

3 Documentation – in addition to the Educational impact statement

For F01C, you must provide documents that support your application.

You must include documents to show your complete financial picture; these may include:

- an ATO Notice of Financial Assessment for the last financial year and copies of pay slips for the last two months
- a copy of a Health Care Card

- a copy of a statement with details of any Centrelink (or other Commonwealth means-tested) payment you're receiving. This may include Family Tax Benefit A
- any other documents to demonstrate your exceptional financial hardship.

If you're living with your parent/s (or with a partner) and you're being financially supported, you must also provide evidence of your parent/s or partner's income (eg an ATO Notice of Financial Assessment for the last financial year).

If you're being financially supported by your parent/s (whether you're living with them or not), they must also prepare a statement which states that they're supporting you. In the statement they must also provide details of any other dependent children, including their ages and whether or not they're tertiary students at home or away.

* Six institutions will consider applications for EAS through UAC for UAC applicants for admission who are currently undertaking or who've previously undertaken tertiary study and who've experienced long-term disadvantage as a result of circumstances beyond their control or choosing.

Home environment and responsibilities

Severe family disruption

ED code 1 Eligibility

You may be eligible if, during Year 11 and/or Year 12 or equivalent*, conditions in your home have been severely disrupted by an event such as:

2 Applicant's statement

You must include the following in your Applicant's statement:

3 Documentation – in addition to the Educational impact statement

You must attach the following documents to support your application:

H01A Death of an immediate family member or death of a close friend.

- the date of death
- and

- the nature of your relationship with the deceased
- and

- the effect on your home environment and you personally
- and

- if the person suffered a period of illness and/or disability, include that information (duration, school years involved).

- a verified copy of the death certificate or funeral notice
- and

- a statement from your school that gives details of disruption to your learning. School statements must be on school letterhead and must be signed by the principal or another senior person at the school.

H01B A severe or life-threatening illness/disability of an immediate family member or close friend.

- the nature of your relationship to the person with the illness/disability
- and

- the duration of the illness/disability and the school years involved.

- a medical certificate/report giving full details of the length of the illness and its severity; include information about treatment, medication, hospitalisation
- and

- a statement from your school that gives details of disruption to your learning. School statements must be on school letterhead and must be signed by the principal or another senior person at the school.

H01C Divorce or separation of parents or applicant.

- details of the period of family upheaval, including its duration, and the school years involved.

- a verified copy of divorce papers or legal proceedings or other appropriate supporting documents to verify your claim.

We can't assess your circumstances without documentation.

H01D Criminal proceedings.

You can't list Criminal proceedings for offences for which you've been convicted, or traffic/parking infringements.

- details of the type of criminal proceedings, the duration of proceedings and who the criminal proceedings are/were directed against.

- copy of legal proceedings or other appropriate documents (eg police fact sheets, charge sheets, bail undertakings).

* Six institutions will consider applications for EAS through UAC for UAC applicants for admission who are currently undertaking or who've previously undertaken tertiary study and who've experienced long-term disadvantage as a result of circumstances beyond their control or choosing.

Excessive family responsibilities

ED code 1 Eligibility

You may be eligible if, during Year 11 and/or Year 12 or equivalent* you've had:

Excessive responsibility for care of children and/or other family members.

2 Applicant's statement

You must include the following in your Applicant's statement:

- details of who you care for and why you're required to provide care
- and
- the number of hours these responsibilities take each week
- and
- the period you've had these responsibilities and the school years involved
- and
- details of support you've received from friends, family, neighbours or an agency
- and
- details of the number and ages of residents in the household
- and
- details of the illness or infirmity of any household members.

3 Documentation — in addition to the Educational impact statement

You must attach the following documents to support your application:

- medical certificates/reports confirming the medical condition/disability of any family members where relevant
- and/or
- documentation confirming the number and ages of siblings resident in the household
- and
- employment status of your parents.

You may include additional statements from responsible people (eg doctor, lawyer, social worker, religious or community leader). They must be aware of your need to undertake excessive caring responsibilities and be able to explain how this has impacted on your educational performance.

H03B

Work requirements to support family and/or responsibility to work in a family business.

- statement of service from your employer/s on company letterhead, stating:
 - job title
 - period employed including start date (and end date if no longer employed)
 - average number of hours worked per week.

Note: If you work in a family business you'll need to provide independent verification of your work requirements (eg business accountant).

- the reasons you have to work
- and
- the number of hours you work each week
- and
- the type of work you do
- and
- the period you've had these responsibilities and the school years involved.

You may include additional statements from responsible people (eg doctor, lawyer, social worker, religious or community leader). They must be aware of your need to work and be able to explain how this necessity has impacted on your educational performance.

* Six institutions will consider applications for EAS through UAC for UAC applicants for admission who are currently undertaking or who've previously undertaken tertiary study and who've experienced long-term disadvantage as a result of circumstances beyond their control or choosing.

Excessive family responsibilities (continued)

ED code 1 Eligibility

You may be eligible if, during Year 11 and/or Year 12 or equivalent* you've had:

Excessive responsibility for care of self, while living independently, with no family or partner support, during Year 11 and/or Year 12 or equivalent.*

2 Applicant's statement

You must include the following in your Applicant's statement:

- details of why you're required to care for yourself
and
- the period you've had this responsibility and the school years involved
and
- details of any support you receive from friends, family, neighbours or an agency
and
- details of your accommodation
and
- details of your income and any other means of support
and
- if relevant, details of your employment status.

3 Documentation — in addition to the Educational impact statement

You must attach the following documents to support your application:

- You must provide documentation substantiating:
- your independent residential status (ie lease documents/crisis accommodation etc)
 - your employment status (if relevant)
 - all sources of income and other means of support
 - any Centrelink documents confirming Unreasonable to Live at Home status.
- You may include additional statements from responsible people (eg registered health professional, lawyer, accountant). The responsible person must be aware of your need to care for yourself and explain how this has had an impact on your educational performance.

Abuse to applicant, parents, or sisters/brothers

ED code 1 Eligibility

You may be eligible if, during Year 11 and/or Year 12 or equivalent*:

You, or your parents, or any of your sisters/brothers have experienced abuse. This could include abuse in terms of extreme physical or verbal torment experienced at school or in the home environment.

2 Applicant's statement

You must include the following in your Applicant's statement:

- details of the abusive situation including duration of the abuse and the school years involved
and
- details of any absences from school because of the abusive situation.

3 Documentation — in addition to the Educational impact statement

You must attach the following documents to support your application:

- medical certificates/reports giving full details of the abuse, its duration and its severity, and information about treatment, medication and hospitalisation
and
- a statement from your school that gives details of any absences from school and/or any disruption to your learning
School statements must be on school letterhead and must be signed by the principal or another senior person at the school.
and
- a verified copy of any legal proceedings (eg Apprehended Violence Order, Police Record of Interview) if appropriate.

* Six institutions will consider applications for EAS through UAC for UAC applicants for admission who are currently undertaking or who've previously undertaken tertiary study and who've experienced long-term disadvantage as a result of circumstances beyond their control or choosing.

English language difficulty

IMPORTANT: You can list only one ED code from the English language difficulty category

ED code 1 Eligibility

You may be eligible:

 If you're not a current Australian Year 12 applicant go to L01C.

2 Applicant's statement

You must include the following in your Applicant's statement:

3 Documentation — in addition to the Educational impact statement

You must attach the following documents to support your application:

L01A

For current Australian Year 12 applicants only

If you came directly to Australia from a non-English speaking country and you began your education in an Australian school in Year 11 and/or Year 12 or equivalent*

and

- you experience difficulty with the English language.

- the country and the language in which you undertook your secondary education before coming to Australia

and

- details of ESL (English as a Second Language) support that you receive (eg at school or outside of school, hours a week, the period you've been receiving this support).

- verified copies of your school reports for your secondary education studies undertaken before coming to Australia. These must be translated into English. Read pages 1.1–1.2 of this booklet for further information.

- a verified copy of your initial immigration visa showing the date stamp for your first arrival in Australia and an Intensive English Centre (IEC) Statement of Attendance if you attended an IEC. If your current residency status is different from that specified on your initial immigration visa you must provide verified copies of both visas with your application

- a statement from each school you've attended confirming the period you've been attending the school.

School statements must be on school letterhead and must be signed by the principal or another senior person at the school.

L01B

For current Australian Year 12 applicants only

If you came directly to Australia from a non-English speaking country and you began your education in an Australian school during years 7–10

and

- you experience difficulty with the English language.

- the country and the language in which you undertook your education before coming to Australia.

- a verified copy of your initial immigration visa showing the date stamp for your first arrival in Australia and an Intensive English Centre (IEC) Statement of Attendance if you attended an IEC. If your current residency status is different from that specified on your initial immigration visa you must provide verified copies of both visas with your application

- a statement from your current school confirming the period you've been attending the school.

School statements must be on school letterhead and must be signed by the principal or another senior person at the school.

L01C

For non-Year 12 applicants only

If you came directly to Australia from a non-English speaking country in 2006 or after

and

- prior to your arrival you didn't undertake any formal education at an institution where the language of instruction was English

and

- you experience difficulty with the English language.

- the date you immigrated to Australia

and

- details of your studies before and after you arrived in Australia (include years studied, name of studies, name of institution, country, language of instruction, studies completed or not, equivalent full-time years enrolled).

- a verified copy of your initial immigration visa showing the date stamp for your first arrival in Australia. If your current residency status is different from that specified on your initial immigration visa you must provide verified copies of both visas with your application

- for studies undertaken in Australia you must provide verified copies of documentary evidence of studies

- for studies undertaken before you arrived in Australia, you must provide verified copies of documentary evidence of study. These must be translated into English. Read pages 1.1–1.2 of this booklet for further information.

* Six institutions will consider applications for EAS through UAC for UAC applicants for admission who are currently undertaking or who've previously undertaken tertiary study and who've experienced long-term disadvantage as a result of circumstances beyond their control or choosing.

School environment

IMPORTANT:

Current Year 12 students who attend a school included in any of the following programs don't have to submit an EAS application for consideration of their attendance at that school†. Instead UAC will use relevant data to automatically assess year 12 students undertaking an Australian year 12 qualification at a school included in any of the following programs:

- NSW Government Priority Schools Funding Program (PSFP)
- NSW Government Country Areas Program (CAP)
- Australian Government National Partnership for Low Socio-economic Status School Communities Program.

ED code 1 Eligibility

You may be eligible if you have been attending a school as described in S01A, S01B, S01C or S01D during Year 11 and/ or Year 12 or equivalent.* Check with your careers adviser/principal.

- † If you attend a school included in any of the programs listed above and only intend to claim S01A or S01B, you don't have to submit an EAS application as UAC will automatically generate an 'electronic' application for you.
- † If you intend to claim other disadvantages you must submit an EAS application, but you don't need to include details of your attendance at a school included in any of the programs listed above, as UAC will automatically add these to your application.
- All other applicants must submit an EAS application.

2 Applicant's statement

You must include the following in your Applicant's statement:

S01A

- A school that's supported by:
- NSW Department of Education and Training and Priority Schools Funding Program (PSFP)
